Dear Dr. Duncan:

I take great pleasure in thanking you and your colleagues, Doctors Craig Fields, Allen Atkins and Ralph Alewine, for your series of briefings on "Recent Advances in U.S. Research" to the initial running of our program on Soviet Science and Technology. In both their written evaluations and in oral comments to me, participants have identified yours as a highlight of the week's schedule. In the process of offering fresh insights into the frontiers of U.S. research efforts, you alerted us, as intelligence officers, to activities that are likely to provoke a Soviet reaction over the next decade or more.

Again, I thank you for taking time from your busy schedule to support this program of our Soviet Realities Institute.

Sincerely,

Director of Training and Education
